CONGRATULATIONS

SEVERN VALLEY COUNTRY PARK

Countryside officer Ed Andrews has passed his masters in Biological Recording with merits.

MYSTERY SHOPPER

Bridgnorth Visitor Information Centre was very pleased with their results in the recent Mystery Shopper survey. Final placings are yet to be finalised but it looks as though the VIC will be amongst the top 8 in the Heart of England region. The staff were particularly pleased with high marks in some areas which they have worked hard to improve on as a result of comments made in last year's survey. Two emails are sent to the centre, two phone calls and one visit was made. The emails scored 85% and 94%, the telephone calls, 88% and 91% and the visit 82%, so well done to all concerned.

EVERGREEN COTTAGE

Congratulations to Dave Roberts who recently was awarded 4 stars by Quality in Tourism for his self catering cottage in Brockton.

The quality of the accommodation in the district is constantly improving. 52% of our B&B members and 57% of the self catering members have now achieved 4 stars or above.

NEWS FROM MEMBERS

CONSERVATION CENTRE OPEN WEEK

The Michael Beetham Conservation Centre (MBCC) at Royal Air Force Museum Cosford will be opening its doors in November to visitors for one special week.

The MBCC is one of the finest aircraft conservation centres in the world. To enable greater public access and an understanding of the centre's work, it will be opening its doors from Monday 24th to Friday 28th November 2008.

Visitors to the Museum will gain exclusive behind-the-scenes access to aircraft conservation-work and have a rare opportunity to view current projects, including work being undertaken on the Handley Page Hampden Bomber, Maurice Farman Bi-plane and the Sopwith Dolphin.

Manager of the Conservation Centre, Tim Wallis says:

"The conservation team at the MBCC are justifiably proud of the work they do towards preserving our aviation heritage. We welcome this opportunity to allow the public a degree of access towards finding out more about the painstaking and skilled work that aircraft conservation entails. The MBCC is a very busy place however and it will remain a working domain throughout. Come along and experience this fascinating work with us, I'm sure you'll not be disappointed."

The Conservation Centre opening hours will be from 10.15am to 1.00pm, 24 – 28 November 2008

The main Museum is open daily from 10am – 6pm (last admission 5pm). Admission and parking are both free of charge.

For further information, please contact the Royal Air Force Museum Cosford on 01902 376200 or visit www.rafmuseum.org.

DANIELS MILL

'Now that the recent restoration work is complete and the mill is working again, Daniels Mill plans to be open for longer hours from now on.

Although it is the close of the main tourist season and things have quietened down, many opportunities exist for volunteering at the mill as we build a team of helpers for the future. No formal qualifications are needed - just an enthusiasm and willingness to be part of ensuring Shropshire's last working watermill remains open to the public.

A variety of activities exist, ranging from: grass cutting, maintaining flower beds, running the small shop / tea room, taking visitors around the mill, and anyone interested in becoming an apprentice miller is also welcome!

The Trustees welcome regular help, and ideas new and old - anyone interested in taking part can call in at the mill and speak to miller Alan George and/or contact Trustees Ian George 07970 019 306 or Heather Walters on 01746 762713.

SHROPSHIRE TOURISM

PRESS AND PR

As a result of Shropshire Tourism's press and pr activities last year, press coverage for Shropshire was worth over £1.7 million demonstrating just how important this activity is in promoting the county.

So far this year, Shropshire has hosted 5 press visits including journalists from the Sunday Times and The Express.

Coverage for Shropshire continues to be generated both domestically and internationally and as ever we are always on the lookout for 'hooks' to use to generate coverage for both Shropshire and member businesses.

If you have a story, please let us know by emailing Sarah at swhittall@shropshiretourism.co.uk

DMP NETWORKING DAYS

Late last year and early this year Shropshire Tourism held a number of networking days to support the restaurant, golf and attractions sectors in Shropshire. The meetings were held on behalf of the Shropshire & Telford Destination Management Partnership (the DMP), with funding support from Advantage West Midlands.

The meetings were very interesting with a range of speakers offering advice and support to each sector.

The attendees at the meetings were eligible for a free entry for a year on the bespoke websites which are also produced by Shropshire Tourism on behalf of the DMP. You can view the websites at:

www.shropshirefoodanddrink.com and www.shropshiregolf.com .

As a result of the golf networking meeting, a Shropshire golf committee has been set up which hopes to meet regularly and encourage dialogue between all the golf courses in the county. The courses which were represented at the meetings were also eligible to a free entry in the new Shropshire Golf Guide which has also been produced on behalf of the DMP.

PRACTICAL MATTERS

NEW GUIDE FOR ACCOMMODATION AND VISITOR ATTRACTIONS

VisitBritain has launched a new brochure to help tourism businesses meet their guests' expectations. Entitled 'Easy does it', the 12 page brochure breaks down the visitor journey into six stages, from attracting the visitor to book to once they have returned home.

'Easy does it' is packed full of ideas that are simple and low-cost, from suggestions for what to include in brochures and on websites, to the provision of easy to find information such as contact details for the local Shopmobility scheme or accessible taxi firm.

Improved accessibility benefits a wide range of the population from dad with a bad back, to gran with a hearing aid, a new mum with a pram or a teenager with a broken leg! Implementing just a few of the ideas suggested in the brochure will help to enhance the quality of experience for many and in turn not only meet, but exceed guest expectations.

Go to www.visitbritain.com/quality to view the brochure, or you can request a free hard copy by emailing gad@visitbritain.org

CANCELLED BOOKINGS

A clear and current cancellation policy will act as a defence for your business if guests' arrangements don't quite go according to plan.

In some cases, it may be you who needs to cancel. So how can you minimise the risks and develop an up-to-date policy that helps manage your bookings without upsetting your customers?

The latest issue of Quality Edge (from Visit Britain) features an article with clear and simple guidelines to help you formulate your own Cancellation Policy.
